

THEY NEED YOUR HELP.

YOUR PERSONAL CONTRIBUTION TO THE GENERAL HERD MANAGEMENT FUND HAS NEVER BEEN MORE CRITICAL, AND THEY CAN'T SURVIVE ALONE.

Dear Nokota Friend,

Your tax-deductible gift helps assure there is daily feed, water, pasture welfare inspections, as well as covering vet and farrier costs, pasture rental fees, fencing maintenance, de-worming and other necessary vaccinations, along with transportation costs for moving horses from pasture to pasture for the Nokota Horse Herd.

As you know, these horses are special. They are descendants of nineteenth century ranch horses and the Sioux Indian buffalo runners. They are part of America's living history. A blue roan Nokota horse named Moonshine recently represented all Native American horses in the Opening Ceremonies of the World Equestrian Games in Kentucky. Their ancestors survived wild in the rugged Little Missouri River badlands for almost a century, making them strong, tough, and smart. They're athletic and personable and can do just about anything, and they need your help.
